We had been exploring the use of a case management system for our university-based teaching law firm, NLS Legal, for many years, but unfortunately, we could not find a product that suited our needs or budget, until Clio came along. Clio has offered their system free of charge to support our pro bono work at Nottingham Law School, Nottingham Trent University, and we are truly grateful. I'd like to make a special mention about Clio staff's professionalism and dedication.

Clio is very intuitive to use, makes conflict checks easy and provides a secure way of storing data and documents. Most importantly it introduces our students to a professional working environment and helps with preparation for practice.
